Other Notes

- We use food grade films and plastics for all laminates and pouches. However, we do not accept any liability in this regards. Customer must test the materials for such requirements.
- Eyemarks are required at top and / or bottom of the pouch as well as in gusset for proper pouching forming process.
- With prolonged exposure to high temperature, humidity and sunlight, pouches are prone to fading, deforming and other issues.
- If customer has supplied sample for material testing, we will try our level best to provide an accurate report and would try to use the same thickness and grade. However this process can have errors and there may be a mismatch between customer sample and our supplies. If exact material is required then customer is required to give exact written specifications.
